How can we use this information to our advantage in sports betting? Keep reading to find out.

5, and the Patriots won by a single field goal, the bookmakers would likely take a big loss, since they would have to pay out on those who backed the Eagles.

One important thing to remember is that key numbers are not some magic formula to winning sports bets.

New England Patriots -3 (-110)

Pittsburgh Steelers -4 (-130)

Notice that you're getting worse odds in exchange for a more favorable spread.

However, there are still plenty of occasions that buying the points around key numbers is worth it.

It could be sooner than you think, say 3 months, 7 weeks or 10 days.

Before I tell you how to identify fake reviews, it's good to know how the fake review market work.

Fake reviews can be easily bought online for a small price, free product, or discounted product. Amazon has been cracking down on such practices for a long time. It has even sued websites providing such services and even individual fake reviewers. However, completely nullifying fake reviews is impossible, and sellers and fake reviewers always find mutual ground to continue this practice.

The reviewer consistently reviews products, like more than 5 products a week.

You can also install the Fakespot Chrome extension if you want more intuitive access.

As you may have guessed, thereviewindex doesn't help detect fake reviews; it actually detects fake reviewers. So fake reviewers review that product if you find many alerts in the spam section.

Don't forget to report the fake review

The above information should be enough to detect most of the fake reviews. When you find a fake review, don't forget to report it so Amazon may take action against it. If your report gets accepted, then Amazon will remove that review from the product and save others from falling for it. There is also a possibility

Amazon may block a seller if too many fake reviews are detected on their product

Report fake review on Amazon

As I said, you should combine the tips above to identify Amazon's fake reviews. I recommend you first search the product on Fakespot or thereviewindex to get an idea of what product and seller you are dealing with and then personally judge reviews if you are suspicious.
