The magazine, which celebrates the 70s and 80s, released the cover in May 2017. The collection is inspired by the work of fashion designer and designer. Pia said: "I'm really looking forward to being able to see the designs

We work on the fashion house, which is what I love to do and the most important part of it is how we use our time in a very beautiful way.

The first issue of the magazine will be released in March.

The Duchess of Cambridge is pictured wearing a matching dress with the words "Catherine" in a white dress, matching the shape of a floral print.

The magazine will also feature a series of photographs, photos, and prints from the Duchess of Cambridge's family and their friends.

The consumer group said it was told by one broker that it had created nearly 16,000 reviews for more than 550 customers around the world - a sign of a vibrant industry not being adequately tackled by the tech giants.

Which? said it was easily able to use a fake reviews broker to supply wholly invented positive reviews on Facebook, Google and Trustpilot (Stock image)

"Facebook in particular has repeatedly been slow to act in tackling fake reviews, showing a complete disregard for consumers who want to read genuine reviews.

"We've requested further authentication from the accounts brought to our attention."

A Google spokesperson said: "We invest significantly in building technologies and instituting practices that help people find reliable information on Google

"We use a combination of human operators and industry-leading technology to closely monitor 24/7 for fraudulent content.

Announced in April, the rules would mean people are not cheated by "bogus ratings" and protect consumers' hard-earned cash.

"New measures requiring legal changes, such as tackling fake reviews, will come into effect on a commencement date that will follow parliamentary approval,"

"the government's statement said.

"You're in a really shitty situation, but you're still going to make the most of it.
